EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR LETTER

KOCT has proudly served as an award-winning local community television station for over 4 decades, embodying the principles of unbiased public broadcasting in the United States of America. In today's landscape, the need for KOCT Television is greater than ever. As the Oceanside Channel, we take pride in our longstanding partnership with the City of Oceanside, providing daily two dedicated channels: COX COMMUNITY CHANNEL 18, focused on arts, culture, and history, and COX GOVERNMENT CHANNEL 19, dedicated to education and local government news. As The Voice of North County, our viewers can access 24-hour live streams and community updates at KOCT.org.

Throughout our journey, KOCT Television has consistently brought programs into the homes of Oceanside residents, emphasizing the broader North County community. Our commitment as a dedicated non-profit organization, partially funded by the City, we broadcast without paid commercials or bias. My small but passionate team works diligently to create diverse, informative & educational content daily, earning us our title. Our devoted Board actively advocates for our affordable services, empowering those who seek to make a difference and be heard in the community. KOCT offers exclusive live coverage of Oceanside's City Council meetings, city planning sessions, and other urgent gatherings, along with engaging documentaries, news briefs, town halls, talk shows, and a variety of high-quality local extreme content. Notably, no other local outlet hosts as many election forums as KOCT Television. We are also leveraging social media and our broadcasts to remind the community of KOCT Television's reliability, impartiality, and importance to Oceanside and North County. In a world searching for truth and reliable information, KOCT remains one of the last journalist outlets in the county and the only television station dedicated to this great city.

When I accepted this position, I made a heartfelt commitment to both the KOCT Board and the City of Oceanside to develop a new, vibrant, and sustainable platform that honors our legacy yet transitions into today's market. I am grateful for the continued support from city leaders, whose intentions drive us to excel to navigate solutions to the ever-changing world of information. My award-winning team is dedicated to upgrading our facilities to meet current industry standards. Thanks to non-profit grants and support from County Supervisors, these technology enhancements enable us to provide extensive training for interns & staff, improving our post-production workflow and storytelling capabilities, which are crucial for generating new production revenue amid declining cable revenues.

This past year, I am especially proud of revitalizing our KOCT Internship Program. Leveraging my connections with local high schools and colleges, we've attracted talented students eager to contribute to our media production efforts. These promising individuals gain hands-on experience, build their resumes, and foster mutually beneficial partnerships with the station. A highlight of this initiative has been the return of Friday Night Lights high school football through a collaboration with the Oceanside Unified School District's Career Ready Program. Building on the success, we also have just completed our first ambitious After School Media Program co-hosted with next generation storytellers to spotlight our bright city. Students now have the opportunity to thrive alongside Team KOCT during live productions, gaining invaluable insights into the fundamentals of live broadcasting.

In recent years, we have actively sought out and worked with diverse community partners, including non-profits, local businesses, city departments, schools, and regional government entities, generating excitement and collaboration not seen in years. Our content is essential for telling engaging, personal stories that support business and community success. With our updated equipment and live-streaming capabilities, we are producing professional, impactful videos and programming suited to today's advanced audience. We are proving the world is taking notice of us Oceansiders. I am proud to see KOCT actively helping the community, raising awareness, and promoting organizations to thrive. No matter what the challenge, we remain dedicated to our dynamic city to document our new growth and hope, while we build a new audience with the beloved history that our archives have preserved for decades. I reaffirm that our purpose and goals remain steadfast. KOCT Television embraces the responsibility for our doors to always remain open to serve the City, inform the public, and strengthen our community. Our dedication to this complex community fuels my efforts more than ever. Present us with a challenge, and we will find a solution.

Looking forward to it!

HIGH SCHOOL SPECTRUM

KOCT welcomes El Camino and Oceanside High School students to the Studio each year to shadow and create their very own episode of Oceanside Spectrum. The KOCT production team assists the students in learning how to produce, shoot and edit their own episode. Since the pandemic, KOCT has worked closely with El Camino and Oceanside High School to continue providing this opportunity to the students in the safest way possible.

Each year KOCT honors a few extraordinary students from both high schools with the Bob Bowditch Scholarship Award. Students this year were surprised with this honor at the end of each school's respective production. KOCT is aware of the great fortune it beholds to continually work with these talented students every year, further building our internship program with inspiring youths with bright futures.

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT AND TRAINING

KOCT's competitive internship program, attracts highly qualified interns providing them real life experiences that help further and strengthen their path in today's ever-changing broadcast industry. KOCT continues to build upon strong relationships with all local colleges and high schools. Interns learn filming, editing, programming, pre & post-production, marketing, and social media. They develop the necessary skills to thrive in the media industry.

Executive Director, Carly Starr Brullo Niles continues to create additional opportunities for interns and has developed a Career Ready Program dedicated to students studying the field of Journalism. She has also spoke to numerous zoom classes for students working towards a degree in broadcast and film in an effort for requirement. These factors led to many talented students joining KOCT's Internship program for the 2023-2024 fiscal year.
